Lawrence guilty of tax evasion

Well-known Gallatin County attorney and businessman Larry Lawrence was found guilty by a jury of 11 women and four men last Friday, July 6, on three counts of federal tax evasion.

During the two week trial Assistant U. S. Attorney Elaine Leonhard said federal agents found $800,000 in Lawrence's safety deposit boxes. She told the jury the money was unreported income that came from a variety of sources including withdrawals from a special escrow account for lawyers, reimbursed expenses from lawyers who rented office space from Lawrence, rental income from those same lawyers, rental income from residential tenants and cash from Racers, the strip club Lawrence owned in Sparta.

Supposedly some of the money also came from dancers at Racers who placed cash in white envelopes every week and delivered them to Lawrence. The dancers were also charged a parking fee to work at the club, which is located on Boone Road just off I-71 near the Kentucky Speedway.

Lawrence was found guilty on three counts of filing false tax returns in 2005, 2006 and 2007. He'll be sentenced by U. S. District Judge Danny Reeves on Oct. 29, and could get up to three years in prison. Lawrence can remain free up until then as long as he posts a $300,000 bond by this Wednesday, July 11. The felony conviction also means Lawrence will lose his license to practice law.

During the trial Lawrence's defense attorney, James Kiefer of Indianapolis admitted some of the rental income, expense reimbursements and withdrawals should have been recorded as taxable income but blamed the mistake on a bookkeeper. He also said some of the money from the strip club was repayment of a loan Lawrence made to the club and was not taxable. He said Racers and the neighboring businesses Lawrence owned including the Finish Line Marathon station and the Speedway Inn motel never made a profit.

After the verdict, Lawrence said he had been ordered not to comment on the case. Before the trial, he said he never hid any income from the government and faithfully paid his taxes every year. He said if there were inaccuracies in any of his returns, it was either because of mistakes made by his bookkeeper or accountant.

Glencoe donation to aid fire fighters

By Mike Dickerson
News Reporter

Glencoe City Council voted to donate $1,000 to the fire department at Monday's meeting. The move was in appreciation for the volunteer fire fighters and emergency services personnel.

Council member Mike Hampton described how the county approved $10,000 to send four Glencoe residents to EMT training. Hampton is one of these.

Additionally, Mayor Jim Nantz explained how Glencoe's fire chief Bud Webster acquired an ambulance at no charge and that Gallatin County provided the necessary money to outfit the new rig.

Initially, council member Rick Dunaway offered to make a $750 donation, saying: "At least give them enough money to give them the equipment they need," he said.

Council member Charlotte Adams agreed with Dunaway and offered to increase the donation to $1,000. She cited the benefits to elderly residents of having a local ambulance service instead of waiting for emergency medical services from Warsaw.

Dunaway was in strong support and the council members present (JuJu Sullivan and Julia Proctor were absent) voted unanimously for the $1,000 amount. The 2012 budget was quickly amended, also by unanimous vote, to allow it. In 2011, the city's budget didn't permit more than a $500 payment to the department.

When asked if the donation would be the same each year, Mayor Nantz said this year's increase was due to a sound financial base for the city. "It could be more next year, it could be less", he said. "But it's never enough to express our true appreciation for our fire department."

The council also voted to donate $500 to the Gallatin County Fire Department. See Glencoe, page 3

Sheriff may take over city's police

Move would save $125,000

Warsaw may give control of policing the city to the Gallatin County Sheriff's Office.

At Monday's council meeting, Mayor C.E. French said Warsaw needed to enter an "Inter-Local Agreement" with the sheriff to address the city's financial problems. The city has a $195,000 budget deficit.

"There are two reasons we need to look at this," French said in a Tuesday interview with the News. "One, it will give us 24-hour police protection. The second reason is financial. It would save $125,000 per year. I don't want to do it but I don't see any other way."

Under a typical Inter-Local Agreement, Warsaw's police department would be disbanded. The city's officers would become deputies of the sheriff who would then assign them to cover Warsaw.

The cost for their salaries and insurance would become the responsibility of the county.

The budget for Warsaw Police salaries is $152,000, which does not include insurance.

The city will schedule a special public meeting with Sheriff Josh Neale to discuss the move. At Monday's meeting, no council members opposed it. The City of Glencoe made a similar agreement with the county in April 2011.

Finally, some relief!

Much needed rain moved into Gallatin County late Sunday afternoon and ended a record heat wave that broiled the region for 11 straight days. During that time, high temperatures were 94 degrees or higher each day and five record high temperatures were set.

The heat wave began on June 28, when the high temperature reached 101 degrees according to the National Weather Service. It was a record-high 101 degrees on June 29, a record 98 degrees on June 30, 96 degrees on July 1, 95 degrees on July 2, 94 degrees on July 3, 100 degrees on July 4, a record 99 degrees on July 5, a record 104 degrees on July 6, a record 104 degrees on July 7, and 100 degrees on Sunday, July 8.

Compounding the misery, no rain fell on the county through the period until last Sunday. Unfortunately, Sunday's rainfall was spotty with some areas in the upper end of the county receiving as much as two inches and other areas near the Markland Dam receiving almost none at all. The county has received about four inches of rain less than average so far this year.

Gallatin County isn't the only area feeling the heat recently. The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOSS) reported Tuesday that the period from January through June this year has been "the warmest first half of any year on record for the contiguous United States."

Record-breaking temperatures scorched most of the country in June with more than 170 records broken or tied during the month. The first six months of the year have also been drier than usual.

This week should be warm and sunny in Gallatin County with highs reaching the upper 80s and lows falling to the mid-60s each day. No rain is expected until Saturday when scattered thunderstorms are expected to pop up across the region.

The sign at the First Farmers Bank in Warsaw said it was 103 degrees last Friday afternoon.

This and That

By Kelley Warnick
Editor

The County Fair, NASCAR races and Warsaw's River Days Festival are over. That means it's time to take care of the important business of planning my summer vacation.

Usually, by this time of year, I know where I'm going, how I'm getting there and the number of days I'll be away. That's not true this year.

I have some good friends living out west in Colorado and Wyoming. At first, I thought about packing up the car and taking a road trip to see them. I knew the scenery would be beautiful and there's something about crossing the country in a car, I always find exciting.

"This whole place is on fire," my friend Bill Gardner said from near Colorado Springs last week. "There's smoke everywhere and people's homes are going up in flames. This isn't a good time to visit unless you want to get scorched."

I received similar news from a friend in Wyoming who told me it has been so hot and dry where she is, the whole state is either on fire or drying up and blowing away.

After those two phone calls I decided to reconsider a western trip.

My barber, John Young, and Carol Spitzer, who owns Pier 99 Marina here in Gallatin County, always tell me to visit the Pensacola area of Florida.

"They have the whitest, most beautiful sand in the world and the water is sky blue," Carol said. "The restaurants are to die for and there are plenty of great places to stay right on the beach. You can't beat Pensacola. It's a paradise."

Right after I talked to Carol, however, I picked up the paper and read that a huge storm had dumped more than 9 inches of rain on Pensacola and the entire region was under water. That's when I decided to wait until after the tropical storm season passed to head for the sunshine state.

I used to live in New York City and Washington D. C. and always enjoy going back there for a visit. For a while, I considered setting my sights on the East Coast for my vacation.

"The entire East Coast is broiling," the newscaster said when I turned on the TV. "It's the worst heat wave since the Dust Bowl days of the 1930s and there seems to be no relief in sight. People are dying in their homes because of the incredibly high temperatures. I have never seen anything like it and hope I never do again."

The East no longer seemed like a fun getaway.

Going over my options, I discovered the drug war makes Mexico too dangerous, Europe is bankrupt, South America is too far away and Hawaii is too expensive.

That's why it looks as though I'll be at home for a Staycation when I get a few days off. It may not seem exciting but at least I know I won't burn up, drown, get blown away or be killed by a Mexican crime lord. Now, if I can just teach the dog to cook breakfast and make the bed, I'll have everything I need for a few relaxing days off.

Fly the flag, Americans!

Dear Editor:

I would like to offer a challenge to the good people of Gallatin County.

It took my sister, Tracy Sanders, and my niece, Samantha, to remind me why I used to fly my American flag.

When they put up their flag poles, Tracy told me how proud she is when that flag waves.

I used to fly a flag and I don't even know now why I stopped. I always put a flag on my dad's grave. He was a World War II veteran.

I guess I needed a reminder of why he went to war — to give us the freedom to fly that flag.

Most of us know a veteran and we should fly a flag every day to thank those veterans and to show our pride as Americans.

I challenge everyone to put up a flag pole and display our flag proudly.

Let us all be reminded of how blessed we are to live in this great country. "One nation under God". God has blessed us and I am thankful for my freedom.

If I see you putting up a flag, I'll honk my horn as a thank you.

I publicly thank all veterans for their service and those Americans who display the flag!

God Bless You and God Bless America,
Ginger Brashear

Arrest warrant was unfair

Dear Editor:

I want to make it clear that the warrant served on me two weeks ago was for a check I wrote over four years ago and I was unaware that the check had been returned. When I closed my account at the bank, I was told all my checks had cleared and everything was fine.

But, four years later, I was served a warrant and had to pay $235 to bond out of jail.

I know that people who were served subpoenas to appear in court the same week for possession of marijuana, or methamphetamine precursors, or were persistent felony offenders did not have to go to jail and bond out at their own expense, as I did.

What's wrong with this picture? Does this make sense? Write a bad check and go to jail. Get caught with drugs and get a slap on the wrist and a get out of jail free card.

What kind of society do we live in when this sort of thing is routine?

I hold no malice towards the Sheriff's Department as they are only enforcing the laws, not making the laws.

Kentucky Commentary

There's gold in them thar' pensions!

By Jim Waters

For Kentucky legislators, the gold rush isn't an historical phenomenon of sunny California's past. It's happening here and now in the Bluegrass State.

That's largely because of House Bill 299, a little piece of legislation passed in 2005 that supersized our elected public servants' pensions.

If the media attention and public outrage earned pension-increasing legislation in 1982 the label of "greed bill," an appropriate name for the 2005 law might be the "golden greed bill".

But this gold won't be taken from previously untapped resources in the Golden State to benefit an entire nation. Rather, it comes from Kentucky taxpayers' wallets for the betterment of an affluent political class.

The bill bases legislators' pensions on their highest salaries for three years in any government position.

So, state lawmakers who earn part-time salaries of $40,000 while in office but then work in other, six-figure positions get a pension based on the higher salaries.

An egregious example is former Rep. Harry Moberly, D-Richmond, who could get nearly $3 million in additional taxpayer-funded legislative pension benefits during his lifetime.

Moberly can base his legislative pension on his salary of more than $168,000 per year as an Eastern Kentucky University administrator rather than on the $41,000 average salary he made during his final years as a legislator. It all adds up to a legislative pension of nearly $128,000 more per year than it would have been without HB 299.

After sitting in the legislature for a quarter-century, Moberly "maxed out" his legislative pension, making him eligible to draw a retirement check equal to 100 percent of his part-time legislative salary. It takes state employee 52 years of full-time work to max out their pensions.

Moberly, according to the report, "somehow was able to drop out of KERS so he could enroll in the teachers' retirement system through his employer, Eastern Kentucky University — a move believed to have been done to enhance one or more of his three government pensions: legislative, KERS and university."

In fact, Frankfort's full of such double- (even triple-) dipping.

Sens. Walter Blevins, D-Morehead, and Dan Seum, R-Fairdale, and Reps. Tom Burch, D-Louisville, Jody Richards, D-Bowling Green, Tom Riner, D-Louisville, and House Speaker Greg Stumbo, D-Prestonsburg, all will draw both legislative and state workers' pensions.

Stumbo will get a legislative pension based on his four years as attorney general rather than the quarter-century he has served as a legislator in the House.

Without reciprocity and double-dipping, the Speaker would get a legislative pension of about $40,000. However, the "golden greed bill" gives him a pension of $98,000 per year for the rest of his life, plus cost-of-living increases. It all could add up to a lifetime pension bonus of around $1.24 million.

Meanwhile, lawmakers voted not to include raises for state workers during the past two years while removing cost-of-living increases for retirees from the current budget.

HB 299 puts elected officials in a retirement class all their own. And lawmakers who tackle this issue will have to confront a crucial special-interest group: themselves.

Brooke Dossett and Mikkah Hignite were named to the All Star Team and Scout Odom earned the 110-Percent Award.

The camp gives players a chance to play in front of talent scouts and college coaches.

Warsaw River Run a hit despite heat

The Warsaw River Run last Wednesday, July 4, was a big success with many local runners braving the heat.

The overall winner was Jeremy Reed with a time of 27.20 for the 5K course. He was also the 20-40 age-group winner.

Jarin Rassman was the 5-12 age group winner at 29.31. Emma Hudepohl won the 13-19 group with a time of 30.26.

Ron Wilhoite won the 41-60 group at 29.06. Jenny Sullivan won the 60-and-over category with a time of 41.03.

A good sport

Many local organizations raised money during the Kentucky Speedway's recent Sprint Cup race by having their members work at the track. Kim Jones, wife of Gallatin County varsity basketball coach Jon Jones, raised money for the school's athletic department by working in the infield's gift shop. Hottest buzz around baseball at midsummer break?

Big market teams Phillies and Red Sox are all but dead.

The NL's leading candidate for a Cy Young has a fastball that clocks somewhere around the President's approval numbers, 48. But oh my, can R.A. Dickey butterfly hitters with his knuckleball.

Baseball's best surprise is in Pittsburgh. Leading Cincinnati by a game and St. Louis by two-and-a-half in the NL Central, the Pirates are 11 games over .500 at mid-summer for first time since you were young, handsome and had lots of hair.

Hope for Pirate fans? This morsel of history – In

Football begins July 16

Mark Gray
Sports Reporter

Gallatin County head football coach Tim Browning has announced the varsity football team will begin practice on Monday, July 16, at 5 p.m.

After practice, there will be a parent meeting in the high school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Anyone wishing to participate must have an updated sports physical.

October 1991, the World Series teams were Minnesota and Atlanta. Both had finished dead last the season before.

BASKETBALL?

Beyond meat market camps, no hoops in July, right? Wrong.

The London Olympics are three weeks away and that USA basketball coach Mike Krzyzewski finalized his 12-man team roster Saturday without college player of the year Anthony Davis, is at least puzzling.

Coach K's credentials and success are impeccable, but leaving a shot block and rebounder and team-first man off the roster that includes egos the size of Charles Barkley's rear-end, will merit a close watch on what happens in London.

KELLY COLEMAN
Kentucky basketball

legend Kelly Coleman gets another curtain call this Saturday.

Arguably the finest high school player in the Commonwealth's rich history, certainly so east of I-75, the King will be first among the first 16 inductees to the newly formed Kentucky High School Basketball Hall of Fame this weekend in Elizabethtown.

Honorees to be celebrated at a banquet in the city's community center include Geri Grigsby, Clemette Haskins, Wah Wah Jones, Cliff Hagan, Clem Haskins, Wes Unseld, Jim McDaniels, Darrell Griffith, Rex Chapman, Richie Farmer, coaches Roy Bowling and Bob Keith. Inducted posthumously: Ralph Beard and coaches S.T. Roach and Ralph Carlisle.

Quite a class.

Sidebar? Has to be King Kelly. He gets his day ... again.

He already has a plaque alongside Muhammad Ali, Paul Hornung, Steve Cauthen, Wes Unseld, Pee-wee Reese, John Unitas and a host of other Kentucky sports legends in the prestigious Kentucky Athletic Hall of Fame in Louisville.

The honor this week is another thumb in the eye for the KHSAA. When the governing body introduced its inaugural class to the Dawahare's High School Sports Hall of Fame in 1988 the class of 26 included best of the best – minus one. Kelly Coleman.

Inexplicably, the KHSAA's selection committee left off the pride of Wayland High School Wasps and the KHSAA's first officially recognized Mr. Basketball in 1956;

Coleman earned his nickname but added enormously to state lore beyond borders of his home state. He had shattered or re-set scoring and rebound records from Wayland all the way to the Sweet 16. Some still stand, including crown jewel 4,337 points. A record not threatened in 56 years.

Justifiably wounded

by being left off the first class list, the King vowed to never accept induction to the KHSAA Hall. The snub did more. It damaged KHSAA's selection process credibility and earned it the 'its all politics.' label.

Ironies...

- Seven inductees to the KHSBHF Hall joining Coleman in E'town were included in the KHSAA's first class in 1988.
- As all HOFs are destined to do, the E'town-based basketball hall of fame will inherit legitimate questions about its selectors and processes from critics of its own.

Here's what some of our friends have been doing lately:

Rae McEntyre has just returned from a three-day trip to Bardstown. On Friday, she visited the Lincoln Homestead State Park where President Lincoln's grandparents had their home. His parents, Thomas Lincoln and Nancy Hanks met and married there and his sister, Sarah, was born there. On Friday evening, Rae attended a performance of "The Stephen Foster Story: The Musical", now in its 54th year of production at My Old Kentucky Home State Park. Rae spent Saturday at Perryville Battlefield State Historic site. Perryville was the site of the largest Civil War battle in Kentucky, resulting in a tactical victory for the Confederate Army. Rae also visited My Old Kentucky Home State Park on Saturday and toured Federal Hill, said to be the inspiration for our State song. On Sunday, she visited Abraham Lincoln Birthplace National Historic Park in Hodgenville. The park provided insight into Lincoln's humble beginnings, which allowed him to make the choices he needed to make during his presidency.

Jimmy Webster and Mary Jones hosted a cook-out on Sunday to celebrate the birthdays of Jimmy Webster and Natasha Welker. Attending were Christopher and Natasha Welker of Norfolk, Virginia; Faye Webster of Glencoe, Debbie Bartels of Dry Ridge, Bill and Barbara Conrad of Jonesville, Jesse F. Connelly of Warsaw, Jesse R. Connelly of Ohio, James Webster, Joey, Samantha and Abby Collanbine, Mary Webster of Glencoe and Trinity Starks of Carrollton.

Mary Jane Day and Barbara Finrock spent Tuesday evening watching the spectacular fireworks on display at the Riverfront. Wednesday morning, Mary Jane participated in the Warsaw River Run/Walk. On Thursday, she and Barbara drove to the airport to enjoy the World Choir games from Australia, San Francisco, and China. The ladies said the performances were great, and voiced appreciation for the talent displayed. Mary Jane's granddaughter, Maddy, and her friend, Katelyn, arrived Friday evening for a visit and plan to stay the week. Mary Jane says there are great plans in the works to entertain the girls.

Patsy Brown spent the Fourth of July shopping in Madison with her good friend, Ruthie Nixon, followed by lunch at Bob Evans. Patsy said it was too hot to do much else, and was glad she could view the fireworks from her house.

Mary Jones of Glencoe spent two weeks in Norfolk, Virginia, with Christopher and Natasha Welker. Natasha is Mary's granddaughter. The Welkers returned home with Mrs. Jones to spend a few days and then the trio went to Minnesota to visit with Christopher's family. While Mrs. Jones was in Virginia, she spent some time with her daughter and son-in-law, Cathy and Scott Clock. She also visited Corolla, North Carolina and saw the wild horses.

Amy and Greg Dickerson and their son, Hayden, attended the Satchwell family reunion at Riverside Park last weekend, along with about 60 family members. Amy said some came from as far away as Texas to join in the festivities, and the table was groaning with sumptuous food. It was a great time for all, despite the oppressive heat.

Barbara and Carvin Baker entertained guests on the Fourth of July. They enjoyed the company of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Roberts, Meredith David, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Grubbs and Lindsey, Mr. and Mrs. Brent Roberts and Audrey, and Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Lowe. The group had gathered to watch the fireworks, and thoroughly enjoyed them. On Thursday, the Bakers enjoyed a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Pat Harrison. On Saturday, Barbara and Carvin attended a birthday celebration at the home of Mr and Mrs. Ricky Wilhoite of Wheatley. They celebrated the birthdays of Howard Bishop, Jr., Kendra Wilhoite, and Shirley Eiron, with many other friends and family members.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY HOWARD, KENDRA, AND SHIRLEY!

Debbie and Ed Bartels of Dry Ridge celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary with a cookout and fireworks on Saturday, July 7. Those helping them celebrate were Taylor Howell and Faye Webster of Glencoe; Tommy and Melyni Lawson, Hayden and Eyllanna of Dry Ridge; Carl and Linda Bartels, Stacey and Michael Morgan, Brady and Allison Wagner of Alexandria, Michael Weyman of Alexandria, Joe and Rachel Wyatt and Abigail Bartels of Cold Springs, Natasha and Chris Welker of Norfolk, Virginia; Trinity Starks of Carrollton and Barb and Bill Conrad of Jonesville.

Betty and Boyd Lionberger joined their family on July 3rd at the Riverfront to watch the fireworks. They made a real evening of it, with good food and drinks, and thoroughly enjoyed the festivities and being together.

Jacalyn Williamson joined friends, Amanda and Haley Beach, on July Fourth to enjoy the fireworks at the Riverfront, and then on to friends Amanda and Paul's house at Steels Bottom to play with friends, Savannah and Cheyenne, for the rest of the evening.

Bob, Alex, Laura and Malinda Weldon hosted their annual Independence Day celebration party last Tuesday. Attending from the Warsaw area were: Dean Wilson, Carolyn and Lee Bledsoe, JoAnna Haymond, Ed and LaVerne Brown, Dave Coleman, Norma Cain, Tina Stewart and children (Cheyenne, Dustin and Thomas), Barbara Kinman, Steve and Regina Zimmer, Judy Poland McGuire, Denise Ping, Rich and Brionna Wood, Steve Huddleston, Ken and Anita McFarland, Charlie French and Aundis, Sally and Josh Davis. Out of town guests included Pam Burell with sons Matthew and Chrystian of Madison; Bill, Sally and Gex Diuguid from Ghent; and Emmy Green, Michelle Green, Angel and Nicole Ramirez of Carrollton, Jay and Anna Scales of Covington, Drew Scales of Lexington, Leroy and Margie Tunstall of Union, Becca Hale and guest of Cincinnati and Dr. Frank and Barbara Piaskowy of Goshen, Indiana. The highlights of the evening were Bob's pulled pork BBQ and the excellent fireworks show provided by the City of Warsaw.

Loren Roberts enjoyed a complimentary Fourth of July New York strip steak dinner at Jewell's on Main. Afterward, he viewed the Belterra fireworks from the top of the riverboat casino.

Alex Weldon's nephew, Andrzej Kornilowicz of Philadelphia, is visiting at Seven Pines for a few weeks. Andrzej is fourteen and had such a good time last summer that he is back for more Warsaw adventures.

To Pop, Jerry Lee Easton - Happy 60th Birthday!

Written by Aubrey New

Jerry Lee Easton is the best Pop you could ever imagine. When I think of him, I see him wearing a thermal button-down shirt and a pair of old stained jeans. He is wearing his old brown shoes and an old John Deere hat. He always starts his day with a cup of coffee and a big smile.

I love to spend special times with my Pop. My Pop and I enjoy constructing new projects in his woodworking shop. In the past, we have built wooden birdhouses. When we do this, we take our time and do our best because we are the best birdhouse builders in town, you know. We decorate our birdhouses with silhouettes of wildflowers and autumn leaves. Another useful project Pop and I made was a bee box for us to put on my Aunt Kathy's hill. It took 3 days to construct our 2 feet by 3 feet bee box. Better yet there's bees in it, by next year it will have honey! The project I'm most proud of is our family sign that sits on the front porch of our house. Pop cut the wood for the sign. I used the woodburning tool to carve, "The News" and our names. This was such a creative experience.

Another special time I spent with my Pop was dove hunting. He accused me of bringing the kitchen cabinet because I brought so many snacks. This was my first dove hunt ever. He spent time telling me what to do and not to do. After he showed me how to clean the dove, I was determined I could do it by myself. Pop wasn't so sure that I would want to do something so gross. He actually let me skin the last two doves. The best part of all is when the stomach pops out. The hardest part of all is finding the down dove. We lost one in the dead cornstalks. We looked for it for about 15 minutes and then we gave up. The best part about that experience was getting Pop all to myself and me learning something new.

The 2012 4th of July Parade is something Pop and I will never forget. We started the day discussing how we were going to decorate the four-wheeler. I suggested 4 American flags. When we figured out that we didn't have any flags we made a mad dash to the Carrollton Walmart. Luckily they had what we needed! After we arrived home, we started washing and polishing the Red Arctic Cat. Pop and I worked at least two hours getting the four-wheeler ready for the big parade. The best part of all was I got to drive the four-wheeler and Pop sat behind me. Pop and I were a team on our Red Arctic Cat with the American flags flapping in the wind.

Times spent with Pop are special; whether it's building birdhouses, dove hunting, or riding in parades. I wish every kid had a grandfather like my Pop.

Planting by the Signs

by Phil Case

If you're planting your garden by the phases of the moon and signs of the zodiac, below is the information for this week.

At this point there are just two "keep-an-eye-ons:" The moisture level in the garden and the days to maturity for seedlings and seeds. Both are crucial as the ground is dry and even though it doesn't feel like it, we're getting ever closer to fall.

The moon is in the dark phase now and will remain there until the new moon at 12:24 a.m. July 19. Thus through next Wednesday, July 18, be planting only those veggies that produce beneath the ground.

The signs find the killing sign Aries (the head) in force today (Wednesday) and Thursday. Don't be doing anything like planting on Aries days since Aries is a mean sign for veggie growth!

Great planting returns Friday and Saturday with the sign in Taurus (the neck), another of the four most fertile signs. We'll just act like there's no drought for the moment and say that on these days you can plant anything that produces below the ground since the moon is in the dark phase.

Sunday and Monday, July 15-16, find Gemini (the arms) ruling. Gemini is the bean sign. Even though the moon's in the dark phase, I'd suggest you plant another rotation of beans since half of the equation is right. Of course they may never germinate because of the drought, but then if we get some rain considering how warm the soil is they'll pop right on up.

Great general planting returns Tuesday and next Wednesday, July 17-18, with the sign in Cancer (the breast) and the moon still in the dark phase. These are great days for any below-ground producers that like it hot and dry.

Looking ahead, our second killing sign is up for July 19-20 when the sign moves to Leo (the heart). Just like Aries today and Thursday, no planting should occur.

On the 19th, the moon will move to the light phase so by the time Leo moves on for the month you should be ready to plant.

A series of flowering signs, all in the light moon, is on tap for July 21-25. The first three days of the stretch are ruled by Virgo (the bowels), followed by July 24-25 under Libra (the reins). These are bloom days and flowers should do that abundantly – given, of course, there's some water involved!

Summer Watering

I know I've already written about watering your garden recently; but with all the "dryness" going on, I figure it won't hurt to remind you again. And heck, if you water right, it won't hurt your water bill as much either. When summer weather heats up with no sign of rain, gardeners hook up the water hose to give their thirsty landscapes a drink. It seems like a simple task, but there are some ways to ensure you get the most from your efforts. Plants benefit more from occasional heavy watering than from frequent shallow watering. Water equal to about 1 inch of rain penetrates the soil to a depth of about 6 inches which is enough to sustain most plants for a week. Light watering generally wets the soil to a depth of only an inch or less. This top inch of soil may hold some of the plant's roots, but it will dry very rapidly. That means the water is not available to the plant for very long. It is much more effective to water less frequently and more thoroughly. During hot weather, some plants will wilt toward the end of the day – this is normal even if the soil has enough moisture. Look at plants in the morning for signs of drought stress (wilting, cupping of leaves, rolling of grass blades) and apply water when these signs are present. Wait until the next morning if you only see these signs at night.

When you need to water your landscape, use a hose attachment to apply water to the base of the plant. A nozzle with multiple settings breaks the water into finer droplets that soak more easily into the soil. Apply water for several minutes before moving the hose to the next area. You can check with a hand spade to see how far down the soil has gotten moist. Try to apply enough water to soak to a depth of 6 inches. Soaker or drip hoses also are efficient and effective ways to water large areas. Plan to run this type of irrigation system for several hours to accomplish a thorough watering.

Morning is the best time to take care of any overhead watering. This gives wet foliage a chance to dry in the sun. Flowers, leaves and stems that stay wet for several hours can have a higher incidence of disease.

Achievement Program teaches about goals

Throughout their 4-H career, young people are encouraged to set and reach goals. No program better exemplifies this than the Kentucky 4-H Achievement Program.

The Achievement Program replaced the 4-H Honors Program in September 2011. The new program allows 4-H'ers to start accumulating points as soon as they start their 4-H careers and to begin earning recognition in the sixth grade. With a new 4-H program year beginning in September, now is the time for 4-H'ers to begin thinking about joining this program.

In the Achievement Program, young people can earn points toward the completion of each of five non-competitive levels by participating in various leadership opportunities, projects, activities and events. Points are given based on whether the activity occurred at the county, district, state or national levels, with point totals ranging from county level events earning one point to national events receiving four points. The program's non-competitive levels range from Level I which requires 25 points and being a sixth-grader to Level V where a 4-H'er earns 200 points and is in the 10th grade.

Students who complete either Level I or Level II of the program will receive a certificate at the 4-H Teen Summit.

Levels III, IV and V have the opportunity to apply for additional competitive achievement awards. These awards include bronze, silver, gold and emerald levels. To reach the bronze level, 4-H'ers must be in the eighth grade and reached Level III. Each of the state's seven districts can choose to submit the applications of 15 4-H'ers, and those 105 receive a $50 scholarship to the 4-H Teen Conference.

To apply for the silver level, 4-H'ers must be in at least the ninth grade and earned the Level IV award. Once again, each district can submit the applications of 15 4-H'ers, but of those 105 applicants, 60 are selected. Those 60 receive a $125 scholarship to the Teen Conference.

4-H'ers in the 10th grade who have reached Level V can apply for the gold award. Gold applicants must complete a community service project. For the project, the 4-H'er interviews community members about problems in the community, decides on one problem to concentrate on, develops a solution and leads a group of individuals to complete it. Each district can submit 10 applicants for the gold award. Of the 70 statewide applicants, 30 are selected. Gold winners receive a $160 scholarship to the Teen Conference and a $750 scholarship to the 2013 National 4-H Congress.

The top 10 gold winners from the current 4-H program year as well as gold winners from previous years are invited to apply for the emerald level in March. Those seeking emerald status must complete a county honors application, emerald application, an up-to-date resume and personal PowerPoint by May 15. These applications will go before a committee and the top 15 will take part in an interview and present their PowerPoint at Teen Conference. The four applicants selected for this level will receive a $1,000 scholarship to the 2014 National 4-H Conference in Washington, D.C. and $1,000 college scholarship.

4-H'ers should check with their county 4-H youth development agent for local 4-H Achievement Program application deadlines. Agents must submit applications to the state 4-H office by Dec. 15.

For more information about the Kentucky 4-H Achievement Program, contact the Gallatin County Cooperative Extension Service.

Customer Deposits

Text change states when Rate GS deposit may be waived in conjunction with taking service under Rate RS.

Kentucky Utilities Company proposes to change the text of the following electric tariffs: General Service Rate GS, All Electric School Rate AES, Power Service Rate PS, Time-of-Day Secondary Service Rate TODS, Time-of-Day Primary Service Rate TODP, Retail Transmission Service Rate RTS, Fluctuating Load Service Rate FLS, Street Lighting Service Rate ST. LT, Private Outdoor Lighting Rate P.O.LT, Cable Television Attachment Charges Rate CTAC, Curtailable Service Rider CSR10, Curtailable Service Rider CSR30, Excess Facilities Rider EF, Redundant Capacity Rider RC, Supplemental/Standby Service Rider SS, Rider IL for Intermittent Loads, Temporary/Seasonal Service Rider TS, Large Green Energy Rider LGE, Low Emission Vehicle Service Rate LEV, Fuel Adjustment Clause FAC, Demand Side Management Cost Recovery Mechanism DSM, Environmental Cost Recovery Surcharge ECR, and the Terms and Conditions.

Changes to the Terms and Conditions include proposed clarifications on terms and conditions for determining customer rate assignments, as well as when standby or supplemental service must be purchased if customer desires non-firm service.

Although KU is not proposing to change the text of its Fuel Adjustment Clause ("FAC"), other than the correction of a minor typographical error in Paragraph (3), it is proposing to recover certain costs through the FAC to ensure that the correct amounts are collected through base rates and the FAC.

Complete copies of the proposed tariffs containing text changes and proposed rates may be obtained by contacting Lonnie E. Bellar, Kentucky Utilities Company at 220 West Main Street, Louisville, Kentucky, 502-627-4830, or visiting Kentucky Utilities Company's website at www.lge-ku.com.

The foregoing rates reflect a proposed annual increase in revenues of approximately 6.5% to Kentucky Utilities Company.

The estimated amount of the annual change and the average monthly bill to which the proposed electric rates will apply for each electric customer class is as follows:

State Parks celebrate anniversary of Kentucky Chautauqua

The Kentucky Humanities Council invites you to help celebrate the 20th anniversary of its Kentucky Chautauqua program, which for two decades has helped tell Kentucky's story through interesting dramatic characters.

The council is joining with the Kentucky State Parks to help celebrate Aug. 1-5 with special programs at five parks.

The "History & Humor, Hummin' & Strummin' 2012" programs will include Kentucky Chautauqua presentations, featuring actors who portray people important to the state's history and culture.

The five-day celebration is also commemorating the sesquicentennial of the Civil War and the bicentennial of the War of 1812.

"This is a great opportunity to introduce more Kentuckians to the Kentucky Chautauqua program while enjoying our exceptional Kentucky State Parks," said Virginia G. Carter, executive director of the Kentucky Humanities Council.

The "History & Humor, Hummin' & Strummin' 2012" programs will feature traditional Chautauqua outdoor settings with a large tent, a stage, chairs for guests, and refreshments. Each show will start at 6 p.m. and last until 10 p.m. There is no charge to attend. Indoor facilities will be available in case of rain.

"We're happy to work with the Kentucky Humanities Council to celebrate the anniversary of the Kentucky Chautauqua program at Kentucky State Parks," said Parks Commissioner Elaine Walker. "Many of our parks have Kentucky Chautauqua events throughout the year."

Some of the figures from Kentucky's past who will be featured at the parks include Colonel Harland Sanders; Mary Settles, the last Shaker at Pleasant Hill; abolitionist John G. Fee and Pvt. William Great-house, a young soldier in the War of 1812.

Here is the schedule for the five-day event:

Wednesday, Aug. 1, at Lake Barkley State Resort Park, Cadiz

Thursday, Aug. 2, at General Butler State Resort Park, Carrollton

Friday, Aug. 3, Carter

Caves State Resort Park, Olive Hill

Saturday, Aug. 4, Cumberland Falls State Resort Park, Corbin

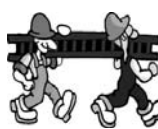

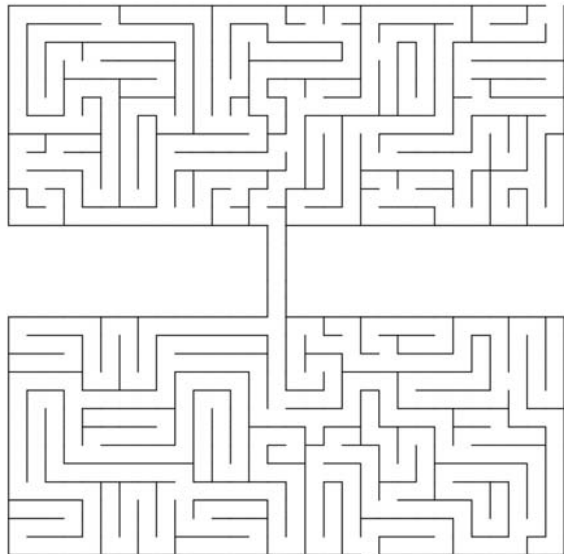

Sunday, Aug. 5, Old Fort Harrod State Park, Harrodsburg

Each park will offer an afternoon activity, such as a tour or walk, before the 6 p.m. program. Restaurants at the four resort parks will be open for dinner and food will also be available at Old Fort Harrod prior to the Chautauqua event. Four Kentucky Chautauqua characters will perform at each location.

Visit Horse Cave, Ky. this summer

One of our favorite places to visit in Kentucky is Horse Cave. It has gained national notoriety with the Kentucky Repertory Theater and the American Cave Museum. It was one of the first Kentucky communities to be designated a cultural district, but the town still could use a boost from its backyard.

There are more reasons to visit the town this summer because the Smithsonian has brought a traveling exhibit to the American Cave Museum: "New Harmonies: Roots of American Music Smithsonian Exhibit".

It features early sacred music, blues and others, and will be open through July 28 at the museum.

To go along with the exhibit, Kentucky Repertory is having a music series through August 7.

Andy and the Rockers will perform on July 17, the Stray Cats Blues Band with Greg Martin will perform July 31, and Ned Van Go will be there on August 7.

Tickets for each of these Tuesday night concerts are $10.

Patrons of Kentucky Repertory Theater and the KRT Music Series will be admitted to the Smithsonian exhibit for free by showing their ticket stubs.

The town's residents were buzzing several months ago about what the Smithsonian exhibit could mean to them. City Hall expanded a cell-phone walking tour to include information about the exhibit.

Bookstore owners Michael Johnston (Two Bears) and Tom Chaney (The Bookstore) would like to see Horse Cave become a mecca for books like some towns are for antiques.

The Kentucky Traveler: Jewelry maker is bored no more! by Don White

Becky DeBord had grown tired of life as a housewife and longed for a career.

"You can only run the vacuum so many times before it becomes boring," she says.

After her daughter, Allison, started high school, she decided to explore alternatives.

"I don't have a college degree, but I've always had a craftiness about me," says the resident of Park Lane in Science Hill and wife of Ernie, retired teacher, coach and principal at Science Hill Elementary.

Locked away in her jewelry box was a piece of paper she had picked up on a trip to Gatlinburg. It offered detailed information about a school in Georgia offering classes in making jewelry.

But not just any jewelry....beautiful handcrafted bracelets, rings, pendants, and other items fashioned from wire.

In 2000, she and Allison, a 2004 graduate of Somerset High, took a week-long class at the William Holland School of Lapidary Arts, and she was hooked.

"I was determined to learn and took the class four straight years."

She must have learned her lessons well, because from 2005 through 2010, she was invited back to teach.

Becky went on to serve as president of the Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen, and is a member of the Shelton Artisan Guild.

Wire Works Jewelry is operated out of the DeBord's attractive home, and involves not only Becky, but Ernie and Allison, as well.

Allison, who is married to Jesse Daughtee, left her job at the Citizens Bank branch in Science Hill to work full time with her parents in the fall of 2010.

"Ernie runs the household while we're working and does all my paperwork and order taking. Friends call him my secretary," says Becky, noting she hopes Allison will take over the business one day.

Becky, whose maiden name is Muse, is a 1973 graduate of Pulaski High. She also has one son, Matthew Hardwick of Science Hill.

Traditional techniques and a variety of tools, including pliers and wire cutters, are used in handcrafting the jewelry from sterling silver and 14k gold-filled wire fashioned around a variety of semi-precious stones and beads.

A counter in the DeBord's kitchen serves as their workshop, and Becky notes she started out using a set of tools purchased from Sears.

Becky's products have been purchased by people in all 50 states, and "I've lost track of how many different counties around the world," she says.

"This business has been very good to us," she adds. She knew things might turn out well when her first venture into selling was done at a Founder's Day held on Fountain Square.

"I took a chair and card table down there to display my work and made $600 in one day," she says. "It was great!"

"I thought I was loaded because I had made it on my own."

Items range in price from $37 to $200 and require between 30 minutes and two and a half hours to manufacture.

The Debords, who recently returned from a month-long stay at the Gospel and Harvest Festival in Dollywood, participate in more than a dozen juried shows each year in Kentucky, Tennessee, and Florida.

"This job requires lots of patience and skill," says Becky, noting she learned from teaching classes in her home that it's not for everybody.

She estimates there are only five other people in Kentucky doing a full line of wire jewelry.

Her favorite item to make?

Bracelets.

"I love bracelets, and no one does them like I do."

The woman who once grew tired of not having a career says she now never tires of answering the question she gets most often.

Looking at the display of glittering jewelry in wide-eyed amazement, people say, "How do you do that?"

Becky DeBord is bored no more!
